EVENTS

Come out AWL's "Party in the Park" Nov. 20, 2010 at Laishley Marina. There will be fun, games & competitions for you and your pet! Animal rescues of all kinds will be there.

We are constantly looking for new venues to get the word out & educate the public about our efforts to rescue and re-home birds. Please contact us with your event or an event you know about.

New Arrival

If you wish to adopt or volunteer to be part of a wonderful team of dedicated volunteers, please contact us at parrotoutreach@comcast.net. Donations of gently used cages, new toys and food are greatly appreciated!

Bird Recipe

Mix up a batch of corn bread. Bake in mini cupcake pan. Serve warm. Any leftovers may be frozen for later use. If you'd like to make it a little more exciting, mix in small pieces of vegetables.

Cage Tip

Many of us believe a grate in our friends cage is a must. Behaviorist Barbara Heidenreich votes "no". Removing the grate allows foods to fall to the bottom and then our friends can go to the bottom for foraging, just as they would do in the wild.

Funny Bird Photos

*What are you looking at?
at?*

Hold still Marco there's a feather out of place!

Your face is dirty!

If you have questions, pictures or ideas for what you would like to see in our newsletter please contact us! We would love to feature your funny bird photo, please send them to parrotoutreach@comcast.net with the birds name and your name. In Dec. would like to feature Christmas fids, so if you have a good one please share it with us!

Wendy is a Quaker Parrot. She was found by Charlotte County Animal Control and turned over to POS. Her chest is plucked but that is the only place she plucks. She is protective of her cage but is a Sweetheart once out of it. She loves her swing and head scratches.

SUCCESS STORY

HELEN

Helen is a Bluefront Amazon who came to rescue blind and with only 1 leg. She had an eye infection on arrival. We quickly discovered that Helen was able to find her way around a small cage. She played with toys given to her and easily found her food and water. It took her a bit to warm up to hands but once she realized there was no harm she turned into a cuddle bug! Thank you Lynn for giving her a loving home!

When looking for a companion bird please consider all the adult birds out there who need homes and adopt! Share your success story and pictures by sending them to www.parrotoutreach@comcast.net
